

CAC publishes a journal, Uncensored, (free to members), to create greater awareness of the need to fight for freedom of information and expression and to widen support for its aims. Member are invited to submit ideas and contributions to the Secretary.

The Campaign is urgently seeking to extend its membership and is always in need of money to counter pro-censorship activity. Overleaf is a form for membership and/or donations which we hope you will complete. Better still use the Bankers Order below which saves us sending reminders, saves you a chore, and helps to ensure CAC a steady income. Please join us in opposing those who claim to know what's best for other people and seek to force their wishes on the rest of society.

What CAC is

The Campaign Against Censorship is the successor to the Defence of Literature and the Arts Society, which was founded in 1968 to assist writers, artists and others threatened by censorship and to campaign for reform of our censorship laws. In 1983 DLAS was re-launched as the Campaign Against Censorship with the object of promoting freedom of expressions in all its forms and combatting restrictions on that freedom and on its exercise.

We believe that the repressive dangers of censorship for adults outweigh any possible benefits, and that what is acceptable for adults to read, see or hear should be decided by personal judgement and taste, not by the law.

The Guiding Principles of the Campaign are :

1. The right to obtain and impart knowledge
2. Freedom from censorship
3. Freedom for creative artists to present their perceptions, interpretations and ideas
4. Support for victims of censorship without discrimination on the grounds of sex, sexual orientation, race, politics or religion.

" Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers."

— Universal Declaration of Human Rights

(Article 19)

What CAC does

The Campaign is in the front line of the struggle against censorship in Britain and the ever-active groups working to restrict our freedom of speech and expression. It gives help and advice to those who fall foul of the existing censorship law.

Members of the campaign appear in TV and radio programmes and speak at meetings, conferences and debates on censorship issues.

The Campaign assists parliamentarians of all major parties by keeping them informed on matters related to censorship, and submits evidence to official committees. If you are in agreement with our aims and would like to join the Campaign please complete and return the slip below.

(If you prefer to pay by Bankers Order please use the form overleaf.)

I support the aims of the Campaign Against Censorship.
