"TWO DOZEN RED ROSES"

By Kenneth Horne

ABOUT NEXT WEEK'S PLAY

"TWO DOZEN RED ROSES" is a delightful romantic comedy which has been adapted from the Italian of Aldo De Benedetti by that well known playwright Kenneth Horne.

Set in the delightfully romantic setting of Rome here is a Continental frolic of the complications which ensue when a florist delivers the roses to the wrong lady. The plot is delightfully ingenious and full of surprising twists.

Originally presented at the Lyric Theatre, London, with a distinguished cast including Evelyn Laye, Michael Shepley and Sally Rogers, here is entertainment which should give two hours of sheer enjoyment.
