Dear Theatregoers,

It is very sad that this week we have to say goodbye to Sheila Hancock, the only remaining member of the original company who opened here in March, 1955. After fifteen months of tremendously hard work Sheila has, probably wisely, decided that she needs a good rest, and as her husband, Alec Ross, who has played here several times, is shortly going to play a summer season in the Isle of Wight, she has decided to make that the opportunity for a break from rep. so that she can be with him.

One cannot speak too highly of the splendid work Sheila has done for the company, and looking back on the variety of parts she has played, one can only be amazed at her versatility. Altogether she will have taken part in nearly 50 productions ranging from highly dramatic roles such as the wife in "Waiting for Gillian" and the blind girl in "The Gift," to sparkling comedy performances in "The Seven Year Itch," "The Little Hut" and "The Sleeping Prince." As principal boy in our Pantomime and as the cockney girl Sally in "Me and My Girl" she showed that she has a real flair for musical shows. Finally and more recently, she shone in the complex character of Lucasta Angel in "The Confidential Clerk" and created a magnificent study of Sally Bowles in "I am a Camera."

You will join us we know in wishing her great success and happiness for the future and in thanking her for her many lovely performances.

Yours sincerely,

DAVID POULSON and PETER GOSS.
