'A COMPELLING, HEART-FELT AND WICKEDLY FUNNY PERFORMANCE'

DAILY TELEGRAPH

Following a critically acclaimed sell-out run at The Hampstead Theatre, the smash-hit Broadway sensation GOOD PEOPLE comes to the Noël Coward Theatre for a strictly limited 10-week run.

Olivier Award-winning actress Imelda Staunton delivers a 'blisteringly funny' (EVENING STANDARD) tour-de-force performance in the leading role as Margie, a sharp-tongued single-mother on the edge. Hearing that an old boyfriend who has made good is in town, she decides to corner him but when Margie's plan brings unexpected consequences for her and the unsuspecting Mike (Lloyd Owen) both must look to the past to re-examine the choices and secrets that brought them back together. Pulitzer prize winner David Lindsay-Abaire's 'sharp, funny and touching' (DAILY TELEGRAPH) exploration of fate, class and the surprising effects of circumstance is brought to vivid life by Jonathan Kent's five star hit production that's not to be missed.
