BLACK EY'D SUSAN

or
'all in the downs'

by Douglas Jerrold

Get ready to slack your foresheet, mount your moonrakers and take a swig of six-water grog...Black Ey'd Susan is a full-blooded Victorian melodrama set in Deal, where a ruthless smuggling gang carries out its illegal trade in defiance of the town's more law-abiding citizens. While the beautiful and virtuous Susan laments the long absence of her sailor husband William, her dastardly uncle plots with evil smuggler Hatchet to evict Susan from her cottage, declare William dead and force her to remarry.

Black Ey'd Susan, by Douglas Jerrold, was one of the most popular plays of the Victorian era. Channel Theatre Company's production features live music and a talented cast of performers.
