Dear Sir

Re: The Extraordinary Life and Times of Donald A. Clifford

We are assisting Mr Clifford in connection with his interest in the above matter.

We understand as you yourself state that you wrote the book in collaboration with Mr Clifford. The book details some of the events in Mr Clifford's life.

We also understand that Mr Clifford did not give his consent for you to publish and sell the book. As you are now selling the book, we should be grateful for:

- details of all sales to date
- if you could arrange for all sales to cease pending agreement on royalty payments.

It is our position that as a collaborative piece of work, you are not, and never have been, entitled to sell the book without Mr Clifford's consent. We also maintain that Mr Clifford is entitled to payment from such sales as have been made to date. We would ask that you take action to prevent all further sales including through "Amazon".

We look forward to hearing from you. Please communicate only through us.

Yours faithfully,
