

International False Rape Timeline - hangout (47) - Statutes Of Limitations

There are problems with sound in this video in a couple of places but the viewer will miss nothing of importance. Late in the video I alluded to symbiotic effects instead of synergistic effects. Also, the Bunny Effect isn't on the Timeline but can be found on my main website. There is also a bit of repetition due to parts of it being re-recorded, but I wanted to get this out by January 12. For more context, check out the hangouts for February 22 and September 5, 2019.

After the introduction I began with the case of schoolteacher Jane Watts who had sex with a schoolboy three times then claimed he'd raped her.

Two recent cases of men who were accused of raping sleeping women.

I went over the case of Katie Brennan.

An update from Jack Rebolledo.

I mentioned the Jeffrey Epstein case, and an update on it.

I mentioned too that whore Virginia Roberts.

Then to statutes of limitations beginning with Lawrence Jones, currently in the news.

And a policewoman from North Wales who resigned for a lesser "offence".

The Harmony Allen case.

The sexual grievance industry and the people who lobby for the removal of statutes of limitations.

I covered two of my favourite cases: Graham Dawes and the slightly earlier case of Andrew Bond.

The continuing attack on statutes of limitations.
