Hello, this is a film that tells you the truth about transsexuals and what has been called the trans movement or gender ideology.

This movement isn't only dangerous, it's totally insane. It has already trashed the lives of countless young people, and unless it is stopped soon it will destroy God knows how many more. This movement is well-funded and has many ugly supporters. It also has many faces. Before exposing this movement though, I want to explain some basic human biology. You will be familiar with some of this, perhaps most of it, but not everyone who watches this film will be, so please bear with me.

All human beings are either male or female, this is what we call biological sex, not gender. Gender is a concept that comes from grammar but which has somehow become associated with the human body.

English isn't a gendered language, but French is, so is German. In French, all nouns are either masculine – le, or feminine – la, but all plurals are feminine. For example, in French, “the chair” renders as “la chaise”, but no one thinks of a chair as being female; it is an inanimate object. What about animals though? “The horse” is rendered as “le cheval”, even if the horse is female, although if one is referring specifically to a female horse, a mare, then it becomes “la jument”, but the plural, “the horses” renders as “les chevaux”, female.

German has three genders: masculine, feminine and neuter – der, die and das. In German, “the boat” renders as “das Boot” – many German words are similar to English words but all nouns are capitalised. Das is neuter, but “the boats” is “die Boote”. “The cat” renders as “die Katze” – feminine, as is the plural “die Katzen”. Finally, “the boy” is “der Junge” while “the boys” are “die Jungen”. Does this mean one boy is male while two or more are female? Of course not, this is language, grammar. There is an important lesson here though; leftists are adept at playing word games, twisting or inventing new meanings for words. The classic example of this was the attempt in the 1980s by Catharine MacKinnon and Andrea Dworkin to ban pornographic magazines by redefining pornography – in this case, photographs of naked women – as sexual harassment. They had some initial success, but in 1985, the US Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit put an end to their nonsense.

Leaving all that aside, people today talk about gender roles rather than sex roles. This is the idea that some professions, pursuits, etc are masculine while others are feminine. Where does this come from? Nothing explains gender roles more concisely than this 2007 cartoon from The New Yorker.

Many people find life hard today, even those with plenty of money in their pockets and connections, but for our barely human ancestors, death literally lurked around every corner. A tribe's most precious assets were fertile women and the young, so social mores, customs, and later laws, were instituted to protect them.

Women were excluded from the professions and trades too. Leaving aside the greater physical strength required for certain trades, it could take years to train, then a woman becomes pregnant, and all that training is wasted.

This changed rapidly from the late Nineteenth Century, but it was only with the 1960s that truly reliable birth control was developed, the contraceptive pill, usually known simply as the pill. Today, there are no barriers to women entering the professions, although few choose trades.

The need for traditional gender roles is thus less than in the past, but that doesn't mean a boy who likes pink is really a girl in a boy's body, nor that a tomboy is a boy in a girl's body. These women are just two examples who were tomboys during their youth. Both married and became mothers.

I said earlier that there are only two sexes, that all human beings are either male or female. That is true, but as usual, life is seldom that simple, so before we go any further, let's deal with mutations, freaks if you prefer. That word isn't cruel when used in context. We are all mutants or descended from mutants. If there were no mutations, humans would never have evolved.

As you probably know, females have two X chromosomes while males have one X and one Y.

(These are the chromosomes which determine sex; there are 46 chromosomes altogether, in pairs). When a spermatozoon fertilises an ovum, the sex of the resulting foetus is determined by the sperm rather than by the ovum. If the sperm carries an X chromosome, the resulting foetus will be a girl – XX. If the sperm has a Y chromosome, the foetus will be a boy – XY. Because all men have an X chromosome, all men have a feminine side, so to speak. Women do not have a masculine side, even butch women. It should be stressed though that the X chromosome isn't a sex chromosome as such; the Y chromosome alone determines sex. If you have one, you are male. If you have none, you are female.

Now this is where things get complicated. Some men have an extra Y chromosome – this is called XYY Syndrome. These men tend to be taller, among other things. Boys can also have an extra X chromosome, that is they can be XXY. This is known as Klinefelter Syndrome. This doesn't mean that these boys are effeminate, but they can have medical problems.

Some girls are born with three X chromosomes; this is known as Triple X Syndrome or Trisomy X. It doesn't make girls even more feminine, but they may be taller, among other things.

Symptoms & Signs of Triple X Syndrome

Delayed motor development

Low IQ

Delayed speech

ADHD

Abdominal pain

Then there are all sorts of other mutations, many of which do not affect us sexually, such as albinism, having six fingers on each hand, or that most terrible of afflictions, blindness.

Blind music legend Ray Charles.

What of sexual anomalies? Around one woman in four and a half thousand is born without a uterus, a condition that goes by the name Mayer-Rokitansky-Küster-Hauser Syndrome. What a mouthful! A woman who is born without a uterus is still a woman. A woman can also be born with two uteruses, a condition known as Uterus Didelphys.

I should mention here two controversial cases. Caster Semenya is a South African athlete. As you can see, she has a kind of masculine face.

Because of that and because she beat other women out of sight, there was controversy over her sex. It turns out that she has an unusual genetic makeup and is what used to be called a hermaphrodite, now alluded to as intersex.

This wasn't the first time there had been a controversy like this on the tracks. Semenya was born in 1991. Polish athlete Ewa Klobukowska was born in 1946; she picked up a gold and a bronze at the 1964 Olympics. As can be seen from her photograph, she is clearly a woman.

Unlike Semenya, she isn't a lesbian and gave birth to a son in 1968. Even so, she was ruled unfit for female competition. She too is intersex. She was also treated very badly.

I could write a lot more about the condition known as intersex. but here are two short examples from videos of intersex people talking about their journeys. The first is a woman; the second is a man. I have kept these very short but you can research them further without too much trouble. So here is Emma Dowd.

And here is Roshaante Anderson.

I won't include any clips from it here, but there is an excellent short documentary called Gender Trouble which interviews several intersex women and discusses the problems they face, problems that are more medical than social. Gender Trouble was released in 2003 and should not be confused with any film that has a similar title.

Genuinely intersex people make up a tiny percentage of the population, and most of them want to get on with their lives as best they can without being stared at. We should allow them to do this.

I should mention finally a rare medical condition that affects women. This is Lady Colin Campbell; she is 100% female, but for the first few years of her life, she was raised as a boy. I'll let her tell you why. Here she is speaking in July 2016. When she says gender, she means sex.

The condition she referred to is a fused labia and deformed clitoris. There are plenty of photographs of this condition on-line. Feel free to look at them yourself; this is a family show. To me it beggars belief that girls were ever treated like this, but even our recent ancestors did some weird things, though nowhere near as weird and depraved as what some people are doing today, and that includes doctors.

That is all I have to say about intersex people and those with deformities. Now a few words about transvestites.

A transvestite is a man who enjoys dressing as a woman. That's all. Transvestites can be heterosexual. This is Grayson Perry, a well-known artist, and quite a good one.

He is a married man and has a daughter. The American film director Ed Wood who died in 1978 was also into this sort of thing. Here is Wood portrayed by Johnny Depp in the 1994 biopic.

And a personal anecdote, my neighbour, who died in 2004, used to work in a cab office where he met all manner of weird and wonderful types. He told me that he knew of one bloke who used to dress up as a woman and go out on the town with his wife. Not the sort of thing I'd do, but a lot of the way we dress is about custom. A kilt isn't that different from a skirt, but don't let a Scotsman hear you say that.

And how different is this Islamic garment from a dress?

This is a Roman tunic.

At one time, women wearing trousers was frowned upon, to put it mildly. Today, the garment that literally generates hysteria is the hijab. Iranian women are considered naked if they venture in public without one; in the West, feminists and other lunatics regard it as an instrument of female oppression, but it is simply a dress code, one that a few Islamic nations enforce rigorously.

Then there is the pantomime dame.

Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull, who we will meet later, isn't a great fan of pantomime dames, but what does she know?

Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull – this is what a woman looks like.

In the early English theatre, women were banned from acting. Actresses were considered very disreputable, akin to prostitutes, so female parts were played by boys or by men in drag. If you can believe that.

Incidentally, drag is harmless adult entertainment, but it is strictly adult entertainment, a form of burlesque. Now we come to the real issues and the real problems that are currently sweeping the West, specifically the so-called trans movement.

There are some people – women as well as men – who genuinely believe they were born in the wrong body, and instead of changing the psyche to bring it into alignment with the body, seek to change the body to bring it into alignment with the mind. In 1966, the novelist Geoff Brown published I Want What I Want, which was filmed in 1972.

Anne Heywood in the 1972 film I Want What I Want.

This was a serious attempt to tackle this issue; it was about an effeminate young man named Roy who decided to live as a woman.

When I was growing up in the 1960s, there was only one such character I heard of, April Ashley, who died in December 2021. Ashley was born male but in 1960 aged 25 underwent a sex reassignment operation, which for a man involves castration.

April Ashley (1935-2021)

I actually interviewed a genuine transsexual in 1990. Stephenie Robinson was a married man and a father when he decided to become she. He had all manner of anger issues, and I couldn't help feeling sorry for her. I say her, like hermaphrodites, these people are a tiny minority, and they are not the cause of the problems we are currently facing.

So what is happening now? We are faced with something called the trans movement. This isn't really one movement, it is a bizarre cause made up of several non-overlapping contingents.

Stephenie Robinson

First, there are the trans athletes, these are males, always males – men and boys – who are second tier athletes, in other words they are good but not good enough to compete at national and certainly not international level. Instead they have decided to call themselves women or girls and compete with the real thing. While there are many female athletes who are physically superior to men, at the very top, this isn't the case. Women who compete against men in contact sports risk serious injury, even when the men concerned call themselves women.

Here is an actual and quite sickening example preceded by some comment from a YouTube sports pundit.

Then there are delusional people including Caitlyn Jenner, the former Bruce Jenner. Actually, Jenner probably isn't that delusional. He, or if you insist, she, simply prefers to...heck, I didn't say I understood this.

Caitlyn Jenner

Here is a dude from Crawley in Sussex who is definitely delusional.

Jet, formerly Dave.

Then there are the perverts, including autogynophiles. These latter are men who are turned on by invading women's spaces, and if that requires them to dress up as women to do so, then so be it.

Then there are those, including medical professionals, who are destroying young lives; this is by far the most important group because without their willing participation this madness would never have got off the ground. When I was growing up or indeed even ten years ago, this would have sounded insane, but it is happening now, and most frightening of all, these monsters have insinuated their way into our schools and even into our governments. And yes, they are monsters. Who but a monster would encourage a teenage girl to cut off her healthy breasts? Who but a monster would perform such an operation?

Finally, there are those left wing lunatics who are pushing this garbage, and like the misnamed anti-fascist movement – to which they are aligned and most often a part – they will brook no dissent. The academics among them like this nutty law professor, of whom more anon, are simply crazy, but the militant wing, like Antifa, think nothing of not simply disrupting the meetings of women opposed to this madness, but of physically attacking them.

Nutty professor Khiara Bridges

Okay, let's go through these one by one. First the so-called trans athletes. This is Laurel Hubbard, Laurel indeed. New Zealand national Gavin Hubbard was a weightlifter in his youth, and a very good one. Now in his early 40s, he is better than most female weightlifters in the world, picking up three gold medals between 2017 and 2019.

Gavin Hubbard – this is how it's done, girls.

We have already seen a trans fighter – a dude posing as a woman knocking out a real woman in just 39 seconds. She was luckier than the Fallon Fox opponent who had her skull fractured. Here is a humorous take on something that really isn't at all funny, a so-called trans woman playing Gaelic football with girls.

This is a swimmer who calls himself Lia Thomas.

Liar Thomas – not a misspelling.

And here is England's most dynamic peroxide blonde mother of four giving her verdict on this dude. In March 2022, Thomas competed in a swimming gala, and Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull hopped across the Atlantic to cheer him on.

There isn't a lot that can be said about delusional people other than that they are delusional. (I don't include the aforementioned Stephenie Robinson among them). The man in the middle is boxing promoter Frank Maloney. The guy in the black hat was one of his stable.

In 2009, Darren Sutherland tragically and inexplicably committed suicide aged just 27; he was an Olympic bronze medalist who had a bright future. Frank Maloney found his body, and suffered a heart attack later the same day. At that time, Maloney was 56 years old, a father of three, and very much a bloke's bloke. Six years later he announced he had had gender reassignment surgery. Any major operation has risks; for a heart attack victim of his age to willingly undergo such a needless procedure shows determination if nothing else. In a way, the Maloney case was even more shocking than the Bruce Jenner transformation. We used to laugh at things like this, but the laughing has long since stopped.

In November 2022, Maloney sat down with Laurence Fox – of whom more anon – to discuss this issue.

He said he always felt different from about the age of three. He is deluding himself; few of us can remember anything from that age clearly due to childhood amnesia which can be compounded with confabulation. For the record, this is where a lot of allegations of child sexual abuse come from in later life. (If you are interested in this, check out my False Rape Timeline live hangout We Believe The Children). Leaving that aside, many of us feel different at times – alienated in Marxist terminology. No doubt the Queen felt different reigning over us for seventy years; no doubt Eddie Van Halen felt different due to his phenomenal talent, but he didn't go and cut his cock off.

Edward Van Halen (1955-2020)

Now we come to especially the perverts. This is footage of an incident that occurred at the Wi Spa, Los Angeles in June 2021. This is around half of the video. The dude with the moustache at the end is the so-called trans woman.

Now here is some of the same footage from a news report which includes some comment from someone named Bamby Salcedo. Listen to the rhetoric of this freak; there was no violence used against the individual concerned, the dude with the moustache, although in an earlier era he would most definitely have been expelled from such an establishment by force or restrained physically until the police arrived.

And here is a short clip of the aftermath, the pervert in question is a registered sex offender with a track record for this sort of thing.

Pervert Darren Merager.

What is the most noticeable and indeed the most disgusting facet of this incident is the gaslighting of the public by the media. (On the off-chance you are not familiar with gaslighting, check out my short video What Is Gaslighting? on BitChute or at the Internet Archive).

Here is the way the Guardian reported the incident. (For the record, the Guardian isn't simply a daily UK newspaper but a major international news website).

The first point that should be noted is that the photograph has no relation to the actual incident. The perp, who was clearly identified in the video, looks nothing like Precious Child, for one thing he is clearly a lot older, and there is the little matter of the moustache. But listen to the rhetoric:

“A nightmare scenario’: how an anti-trans Instagram post led to violence in the streets”.

There was nothing anti-trans about that woman’s video, unless you consider it anti-trans for a dude to call himself a woman then flash his hampton in front of underage girls. The article begins:

“On 24 June, a woman claimed on Instagram that a Korean spa in Los Angeles had allowed a ‘man’ to expose himself to women and girls in the women’s section.

The unsubstantiated allegations about Wi Spa in LA’s Koreatown neighborhood quickly spread from social media to rightwing forums to far-right news sites to Fox News, and were distorted by anti-transgender groups across multiple countries”.

Distorted by whom? The Guardian puts the word “man” in quote marks as if to suggest this dude isn’t really a man. We can argue about what kind of man he is and how much of one, but no reasonable person could suggest he is a woman. “The unsubstantiated allegations” - there was nothing unsubstantiated about what happened here, it was videoed in real time. The Guardian is simply lying to you, and to the world.

As to the violence in the streets, there was a peaceful protest by Wi Spa patrons and others. And a counter-protest by Antifa who used the kind of violence they usually reserve for Nazis, in other words, anyone to the right of Leon Trotsky. Here is part of a video that was uploaded to YouTube by CBS Los Angeles. It was titled Violence Erupts Among Protestors At A Koreatown Spa, something that is oh so typical. Whenever Antifa or other left wing thugs attack peaceful protesters or demonstrators, we are always told this is an eruption of violence or some such. If a man walks up to you in the street and punches you in the face, are you erupting with violence?

So nice of Antifa to defend the right of sexual deviants to expose themselves to young girls.

Here is another, very short clip of a female Wi Spa patron talking about an earlier incident.

While Antifa and their fellow travellers are always eager to use violence, another tactic used by these thugs is to smear those opposed to this madness. This includes pressure on venues to cancel their meetings. This can include threats of violence, and of course most businesses don't want the hassle.

Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull has been a target of these smears. What she and most of those who support her organisation or attend her meetings want, can be summed up as follows:

Men should be excluded from women's spaces, especially changing rooms and prisons.

No men in women's sports.

An end to the indoctrination of the young, specifically, no sex in the classroom outside of an age-appropriate biology lesson.

No hormone treatment and definitely no surgery like amputation of breasts or castration of minors.

Is that so unreasonable? Even ten years ago it would have sounded like common sense.

Yes, I did say no men in women's prisons, in particular no male inmates in women's prisons, period. If this is new to you, here are just two sick examples: the first is from the United States; the second, from the UK, beggars belief.

As the saying goes, you couldn't make this stuff up. Notice how the talking heads refer to these lowlifes as she. Karen White is a very bad girl, she raped two women in prison.

The two faces of Karen White.

You may think that is bad, but not everybody does. I never thought I'd ever defend a lesbian feminist, but here is a bunch of them who are attacked by trans fanatics, Antifa, or whatever these lowlifes are.

Now back to Britain's favourite peroxide blonde mother of four. I should add that Kellie-Jay is also opposed to pornography (defined in very broad terms), prostitution and surrogacy. These are her personal opinions and have nothing to do with the fight against gender ideology.

She also has many lesbian and male homosexual supporters , who in the words of a certain African leader...

That being said, there are many lesbians on both sides of the Atlantic and Down Under who are opposed to this poison. Like Kellie-Jay they are smeared as fascists – by the people who attack peaceful protesters. Smeared as fascists and worse. Doubtless the overwhelming majority of genuine fascists are also opposed to gender ideology, but Adolf Hitler was a strict vegetarian. Does that mean you are a Nazi sympathiser if you don't eat meat? Don't fall for any of this BS including smears of guilt by association. Just bear those key points in mind:

No men in women's sports or women's space.

No sex in the classroom.

No mutilating the young.

Got that?

You can ignore any talk about transhumanism or erasing women.

Transhumanism is an entirely different subject, and it isn't only women who are erased, so to speak, but men who fall prey to this poison. Both men and women risk having their sexuality destroyed.

Now let's listen to the nutty law professor. This is a classic interchange between her and the American Senator Josh Hawley. And yes, this freak with two rings in her nose including one through her septum is an actual professor.

Okay, let's go through this lunacy one point at a time.

People who have the capacity for pregnancy. Another lunatic phrase used is “birthing people”. Perhaps this is what Kellie-Jay means when she talks about the erasure of women. When this lunatic talks about ciswomen she means women. Ordinary women, sane women. Unlike her.

Hawley is barely out of his opening remarks when she tells him his line of questioning is transphobic and opens up trans people to violence, a classic non sequitur. He does so by not recognising them? How does not recognising any type of person open up that type of person to violence, surely it would do the opposite? Leaving that aside, nowhere in this hearing does Hawley say he does not recognise the existence of trans people.

Then she goes on to claim that one out of five trans people have attempted suicide. She gives no citation for this statistic but leaving that aside, suicide is a surprisingly common cause of death, especially among the young as can be seen from this shocking chart.

Suicide Rates by Age Group (2020)

Data Courtesy of CDC

I have personally known two people who committed suicide: one at 19; the other at 27. Whether or not Professor Bridges realises it, the threat of suicide is something the trans lobby uses to coerce parents into “transitioning” their young ones. It goes something like this: Would you rather your son be castrated and turned into a girl – girl in quotation marks – or have him commit suicide? Would you rather your daughter have a double mastectomy and take massive doses of testosterone or have her commit suicide? Sick, but sadly it appears to have been effective in numerous cases.

Then the nutty professor asks Senator Hawley that classic question, does he believe men can become pregnant? Naturally he says he does not. Therefore he is denying that trans people exist? Perhaps Professor Bridges is alluding to the 1994 comedy in which a scientist performs a bizarre experiment that leads to him becoming pregnant.

But probably not. And sadly, she isn't the only woman who espouses this lunatic view. Here are a couple more.

Aimee Arrambide: anyone can be a woman, even pregnant men.

And this is what happened to one man who like Senator Hawley dissented from this lunacy.

Now let's take a deep dive into the people who are profiting from this madness. Thankfully, most of the research has already been done, including by Matt Walsh. If you haven't seen his film What Is A Woman? I would strongly recommend it.

Here is a four minute clip of the so-called paediatric clinic at Vanderbilt University in Tennessee. This may be an extreme case, but as can be seen from the last thirty seconds or so of the clip, it is one of very many.

Here is another, shorter clip, relating to the Vanderbilt clinic. We hear first from a politician who pledges to do something about it, then we hear from an individual who is, I would say a freak, but is more likely a victim. Whether or not this individual realises it, there is nothing age-appropriate about this so-called gender-affirming care.

And here is a common tactic used by this lobby. Look at the sign this victim of transgender abuse is holding.

No, you're not scary, you're a sad case, because you are being exploited by evil men and women who will mutilate your body for ideology or profit.

Here is Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull again. She is talking to a concerned mother live on June 28, 2022.

Do you have a young daughter? If you don't, do you have a young sister, a niece...if you don't, would you like to see the 13 year old girl next door have her breasts surgically removed?

Before you answer that question, look at these women who have all had double mastectomies due to cancer. Yes, they are each putting on a brave face, but how do you think they really feel?

Let's get this absolutely straight, there is no such animal as a trans child. By the same token there is no such animal as a homosexual boy or a lesbian girl, even if you call these practices gay. Sexuality is a choice; sex is not. This man was a lifelong homosexual; he is now celibate having traded in his perversion for Jesus.

This man was a lifelong homosexual; he is now a heterosexual and married.

Former homosexual Adam Hood.

This man was a homosexual and is now a married man with a family.

Tom Robinson – no longer glad to be “gay”.

This man, who needs no introduction, is a sad case. In 1984, he married a woman.

Later, sadly...

Shortly, I will show you what happens to a child who defies Mother Nature by trying to choose his or her sex. Be warned, this will not be pleasant.

In the United States, the trans lobby has infiltrated the highest levels of Government, openly. In case you don't recognise this freak, he is Rachel Levine.

Yes, Rachel. Levine was a doctor, a married man and a father when he “transitioned”. Incidentally, as a kid he went to Hebrew school. That transition must have gone down well with his rabbi. Not. In February 2021, Levine was nominated as Assistant Secretary For Health, then was made an Admiral.

Here he is again, posing with the Biden Administration's affirmative action hire spokeswoman, black lesbian immigrant Karine Jean-Pierre.

Here is Levine at his confirmation hearing being grilled by Senator Rand Paul who is both a doctor and the son of a doctor, Ron Paul. Notice that like Paul says, Levine refuses to answer the question, repeating his sham answer when given a second chance.

This by the way is the girl Rand Paul mentioned.

Keira Bell is a sad case. She is standing outside the High Court in London. In 2021, she won an appeal in which the Court Of Appeal ruled that minors could not give “competent consent” to these insane medical procedures. Keira was treated by the Tavistock Clinic which has a track record for this sort of thing going back to 1989.

Because he is a doctor, Levine should know better than anyone else that enabling even encouraging the young to “transition” is an abomination. Instead he says he will affirm them. Gender-affirming care indeed.

When I was growing up in the 1960s, kids did all sorts of crazy things. They used to smoke cigarettes, mostly because their parents forbade it. Alcohol was another thing. For some, there was shoplifting, minor acts of criminal damage, even outright juvenile delinquency. Most kids grow out of these fads and anti-social behaviours in time, but changing your sex isn't akin to changing your underwear. It isn't like changing your politics, or your religion.

This isn't some transitory fad like hot pants, the twist, or the Indiana Jones film franchise. This is the future of humanity, including your kids. Whatever is responsible for this insanity: social contagion, social media, fluoride in the water...it has to be stopped, not affirmed, whatever that means.

When people suffer from delusions, the problem is with their minds, not their bodies. For Rachel Levine, Frank Maloney, Caitlyn Jenner, well, they were all adults, older adults. My view is they should be discouraged from this insane so-called transitioning, but as mature adults they knew what they were doing, the risks involved, the long term effects. What does a child know? What does even an 18 year old?

Whatever happened to first do no harm?

Here is the charismatic Governor of Florida summing up both that odious creature Levine and the reality of so-called gender-affirming care in less than a minute. Like me, this guy has no use for disgusting euphemisms.

Sadly, there are delusional parents who are prepared to go along with this insanity. This is Susie Green, a woman who can only be described as a monster.

Monster mother Susie Green.

She gave her son an unusual sixteenth birthday present; she took him to Thailand and had him castrated.

Green joined a charity called Mermaids. Set up in 1994, Mermaids sought to assist parents whose young ones were suffering from these delusions. Sadly, Mermaids would morph into a transgender advocacy group. Green served as its CEO for six years but was forced out in November 2022.

Thanks to the efforts of Matt Walsh in the United States and like-minded individuals in the UK, like Kellie, the authorities are finally taking steps to stamp out this obscenity.

The Italian Government banned breast enhancement procedures for minors in 2009, ordinary breast enlargement. In the UK, Mermaids has been supplying breast binders to underage girls. Here is another UK hero, the actor Laurence Fox and his take on breastbinders/chestbinders.

Now I'm going to show you a pervert teacher, one of many; this will be followed by a four minute clip of a doctor talking common sense and unmasking trans propaganda. Then we will finish off with some personal testimonies, and when I say testimonies, I mean horror stories. First let's hear from this odious creature courtesy of Matt Walsh via Libs Of Tik Tok.

Comment would be superfluous, now here is a rational human being, an American doctor who hasn't been corrupted by this poison.

Michelle Cretella: a sane doctor and a woman, unlike Rachel Levine on both counts.

Now here are the testimonies. Again, be warned, these are horrific. This is Scott Newgent, who believe it or not is a biological woman. She is talking to Matt Walsh. Again, if you haven't seen Matt's film What Is A Woman? I can strongly recommend it.

Scott Newgent mentioned phalloplasty. Here is some blurb from a website run by Johns Hopkins University that tells you exactly what that involves.

Phalloplasty is surgery for masculinizing gender affirmation. Phalloplasty is a multistaged process that may include a variety of procedures, including:

Creating the penis

Lengthening the urethra so you are able to stand to urinate

Creating the tip (glans) of the penis

Creating the scrotum

Removing the vagina, uterus and ovaries

Placing erectile and testicular implants

Skin grafting from the donor tissue site

Phalloplasty involves using skin flaps, which are areas of skin moved from one area of the body to another. The skin flap is then reshaped, contoured and reattached to the groin to create the penis.

Do you need to hear more?

Imagine doing this to a teenage girl then amputating her breasts and removing her ovaries to “cure” a delusion.

Here is another testimony.

Hear that? At the end of the day this is cosmetic surgery, albeit of a particularly horrific kind. Leaving aside all the psychobabble, this individual was profoundly unhappy and thought or was duped into thinking changing his body shape and doing unmentionable things to his genitalia could make him happy. Perhaps he should have taken the same route as Becket Cook and found Jesus?

A male victim of these modern Dr Frankensteins testifies in Florida.

We'll have one more, but first here are two of my favourite people; Kellie is explaining to Tucker the physical reality of this insane cosmetic surgery.

Finally, this is KC Miller, who transitioned from female to male. At least one idiot has claimed KC Miller is a hoax. Sadly, that is not the case.

KC Miller

I could go on, but if you haven't got the message by now, you never will. On this subject more than any other, the world has gone insane, at least most of the English-speaking world has, including Australia and New Zealand. We have to not simply stop this insanity from spreading to the rest of the world but to reverse it. And when I say the English-speaking world has gone insane, I mean exactly that. The castrating of boys and the mutilation of young girls' bodies is called care while those who try to stop this obscenity are accused of hate.

J.K. Rowling, a woman who has done more for child literacy than anyone since Caxton invented the printing press, and a mother of three, is accused of bigotry because she doesn't believe men can become women. In Los Angeles, women protesting against perverts exposing themselves to their young daughters are attacked by black bloch thugs. And this powerful lobby has successfully pressurised governments and law enforcement to criminalise those who defend especially women and girls against their madness. Like this.

We need you to come in for a voluntary interview. No you don't, you pernicious cunt, what you need is to stop harassing this Trowbridge housewife and investigate real crimes, like some of Brighton's many unsolved murders.

That was Terry McAuliffe, and that comment cost him his post as Governor of Virginia. Here's why.

Terry McAuliffe removed from office by parent power.

These books are obscene by any meaning of the word.

Activist teachers like that pervert I showed you earlier think this kind of poison is just fine in schools, and not just for teenagers.

This video was uploaded to YouTube in March 2019; it shows an angry grandparent confronting a teacher who put his grandson in a dress.

These people have already destroyed countless adult lives, but that isn't enough, now they're coming for your kids. Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull, Laurence Fox, Senator Josh Hawley, Matt Walsh, and many other parents have had enough of this. Now it's up to you. How much more of these lies and this poison are you prepared to take?
