Dear Alexander,

As you know I was a political prisoner in solitary confinement in Austria for 400 days until the end of 2006, arrested for a talk that I gave in Vienna 19 years ago. Some folks don't like free speech. I have recently published my prison memoirs, entitled Banged Up, including 50 pages of photos, many in colour, and two bonus chapters from my future autobiography.

In a few days' time I will be speaking in Hove, Sussex, and in London on World War II history and my imprisonment. I would like to invite you to attend. To hear me in Hove on November 22 phone me on 0793 448 5255 or write to me at the address below or email me at Focalp@aol.com; the London meeting is in Bloomsbury at 2 pm on December 6. I will notify you where to go a day or two before the function. Please first register online at my website, irvingbooks.com/functions, or you can phone or email me, or return the slip at the foot of this page. I would also like to offer you an autographed Banged Up at a special price of £20 including postage, which I will sign for you if I get the order within the next ten days.

As always, your support and encouragement is deeply appreciated in this ongoing fight for free speech and real history. I hope to see you at the Sussex or London event and please feel free to bring along any books that you may already have, as I would be happy to sign them for you.

Sincerely,

David Irving
