

The Fantasy World Of Bahar Mustafa

By Alexander Baron - May 26, 2015

Bahar Mustafa

86
SHARES

If you've ever wondered why there are so few women engineers or mathematicians (with the exception of the tragic Sabine McNeill) it might just be because most women bright enough to merit a university education are also dumb enough to be seduced by the specious propaganda of social justice warriors, feminazis and self-styled anti-racists. Sadly, Bahar Mustafa is no exception.

The so-called welfare and diversity officer for Goldsmith's University Student Union, Miss Mustafa graduated with a worthless degree, in Gender & Media Studies. For those not in the know, Gender Studies is a bit like Revisionist History, except that instead of re-evaluating eyewitness testimony and documentary evidence to produce a new and more accurate narrative, you simply invent your own, which includes fantasies like patriarchy theory, rape culture and the subjection of women, the latter of which was even endorsed by the henpecked John Stuart Mill.

There is of course nothing wrong with welfare, or even a bit of diversity, but Miss Mustafa sparked outrage – undoubtedly much of it mock outrage – when she advertised a meeting at which white men would not be welcome. Okay, let's give her that, now however she has gone one step further with the Twitter hashtag #killallwhitemen. Unsurprisingly this generated real outrage, and even less unsurprisingly, Britain's politically correct police are now said to be investigating it.

There have been calls both to support Miss Mustafa and to give her the boot; she remains defiant insisting that as a woman (oppressed), ethnic minority (doubly oppressed), queer – her word (trebly oppressed) and disabled person (quadruply oppressed) she cannot be racist or sexist towards whites especially white men because they are by definition higher up the totem pole of oppression than poor little her.

The word racist is used so broadly nowadays that it has no real meaning, ditto sexist, but the idea that she can't be anti-white when she uses the hashtag #killallwhitemen is too absurd for words. So where is she going wrong apart from everywhere?

Goldsmiths University was founded in 1891 as Goldsmiths College by wealthy white men. Although long departed from this planet, these particular white men would have doubtless been happy to see Miss Mustafa enrol as an undergraduate student, but likewise they would have been horrified at the nonsense that has filled her head. Doesn't she ever stop to think before she opens her mouth?

Two years ago the richest people in Britain were the brothers Sri and Gopi Hinduja; in eighth place were brother and sister Kirsten and Jörn Rausing. Three years ago, curry queen Perween Warsi had an estimated net worth of £70 million. Are any of them oppressed?

There are privileges money can't buy, one in particular, but the idea that whites oppress blacks, straights oppress queers, men oppress women, and white men oppress everyone else, is too silly for words. As Miss Mustafa will realise if Britain's politically correct police do come calling for her at 6am and drag her in front of a magistrate, now that she has been hoist with her own petard.

86
SHARES

Alexander Baron

<http://www.infotextmanuscripts.org>