

False Flags And True Idiots

The dust had hardly settled on the recent horrific attacks in Paris when the usual suspects (read usual idiots) were making noises about this being a false flag. It is best not to publicise any of this insanity here, but it might be productive to look at some historical events in order to try to explain this bizarre belief system.

The first thing to note is that false flags are real, as are sundry hoaxes be they false rape allegations or real crimes in which the perpetrator points the finger at someone else.

In November 1870, the British Consul in Damascus (Richard later Sir Richard Burton) wrote a long dispatch in which he detailed the actions of a young Jewish boy who had been caught in the act of defacing the “privy” of a mosque in order to blame it on the local Christians, something he clearly didn’t do on his own initiative.

In October 1989, Charles Stuart murdered his heavily pregnant wife, shot himself in the back, then blamed the crime on a (non-existent) black man, an act that inflamed racial tensions in the City of Boston. Numerous acts of similar perfidy if not depravity have been documented in the intervening century or more, and down to this day.

In war-time, lies and duplicity multiply, and are propagated by the black propaganda departments of governments – including ours. Two of the top men employed by the British Government during the Second World War have left us boastful memoirs: Ellic Howe and his boss Sefton Delmer. Black propaganda, disinformation and false flags are also used by government agencies in peacetime. It is a matter of record that the FBI used its notorious COINTELPRO to disrupt domestic extremists of both the radical right and the radical left, albeit with limited success. On occasion, the nefarious activities of the police in particular have been caught on camera, like at this protest at Toronto in August 2007. The ruthlessness exhibited by US Government agencies at Ruby Ridge and Waco to give but two shocking examples should leave no one in any doubt that they are capable of systematically persecuting and at times murdering innocent civilians.

We trust the police and even our governments at our peril, but the claims and crimes laid at the door of especially the American Government beggar belief, including the 9/11 attacks. Alas, while charlatans like Richard Gage are making a comfortable living out of propagating such nonsense, and while people are gullible enough to believe them, you can expect the conspiratards to continue to churn out their drivel, however obscene, defamatory, scandalous, or distressing it may be for the families of victims.

If you are not au fait with either the Lavon Affair – a real false flag operation, or Operation Northwoods – which came to nothing, this lengthy article will tell you all you need to know and then some, as well as give you an insight into the lies of the 9/11 Truth Movement. The comments by the true believers are a wonder to behold.

The alleged motivations for false flag attacks vary, from using them as a pretext to turn America into a police state – the Oklahoma City bombing, to blaming an innocent country in order to start a war – 9/11. The reality is that if an arm of the US Government could in fact have perpetrated either of these atrocities, especially the latter, then critics such as Alex Jones and (the lunatic) James Fetzer could have been made to quietly disappear, perhaps in staged accidents, framed for the distribution of Class A drugs, or some such. Once a distinguished academic, Fetzer's insane ravings include a book called Nobody Died At Sandy Hook... This nonsense is currently being offered for sale on Amazon; the US Government has not attempted to block its sale because nobody in his right mind takes it seriously.

One final point, even seeing is not always believing, cameras can lie both intentionally and accidentally. Just because you see a video on YouTube that appears to document some atrocity or act of duplicity, doesn't mean you can believe your eyes. There are a number of doctored or even outright fake videos of the 9/11 attacks in circulation. We can expect the recent Paris atrocities to be given the same treatment in due course.
