SUKKOT: SEEKING SHELTER

25 September – 3 December 2017

Step inside our Sukkah installation and learn more about the Jewish festival of Sukkot and its relevance in today's world, as millions of people around the world find themselves displaced and in desperate need of a home.

Sukkot remembers the 40 years the Jewish people spent wandering in the wilderness after their exodus from Egypt. It is traditionally celebrated by building a temporary outdoor hut, called a Sukkah, in which families can eat, study and sleep during the week-long festival.

Explore more about Sukkot and stories of migration and refugees in our Migration Festival of events throughout the installation.
