GRUNWICK 40

We are the

LIONS

An exhibition commemorating the Grunwick strike 1976-78

Forty years ago a group of workers in a backstreet Willesden factory stood up to their unfair bosses and kickstarted one of the longest and most important industrial disputes in British history. Led by Asian women, the Grunwick strike challenged stereotypes, changed the face of white, male trade unions, and inspired others to speak out against injustice.

Come and explore a piece of Brent's radical history at this exhibition – based on exclusive archive material and featuring the original strike banner.

Curator and project manager: Poulomi Desai

What you are running is not a factory, it is a zoo. But in a zoo there are many types of animals. Some are monkeys who dance on your fingertips. Others are lions who can bite your head off. We are the lions, Mr Manager.
